We discussed the content of the website, being a database of Lewis Hamilton's career statistics as well as containing information about his personal life.

Stylewise, we discussed the "fast" motif that F1 uses, as well as the other notable design cues it implements (checkered flag, scoreboard, etc.). Hope brought up the idea of using the scoreboard to stylize Lewis' career statistics, as well as using a race theme for the entire website (starting with the checkered flag at the top and it works its way down to the podium at the end).
